PRATT NAMES FREDERICK BAU AS INTERIM DIRECTOR OF LABOR RELATIONS

New Director has More Than 30 Years of Experience in Labor Relations

Milwaukee, WI – County Executive Marvin Pratt announced today that he has named Frederick J. Bau as interim Milwaukee County Director of Labor Relations.

Bau, a graduate of Marquette University, has more than 30 years of experience in labor relations. He has been a Milwaukee County labor relations specialist since 2007. Prior to his position at Milwaukee County, Bau was Director of Human Resources for Winnebago County and a labor relations specialist for the State of Wisconsin Department of Employment Relations.

Bau is a former associate director of Milwaukee District Council 48, AFSCME, and a labor relations specialist for the City of Milwaukee. He previously was a labor relations analyst for Milwaukee County from 1978 to 1980.

“At this point in county labor relations, I’m pleased to name Fred to this key position,” Pratt said. “Fred has a wealth of experience and can bring his vast knowledge to our Labor Relations Department. There is no question that Fred will play an important role in this administration.”
