

Protective Survivorship Option (PSO)

What is the Protective Survivorship Option (PSO)?

- A member in active service (not retired, resigned or terminated)
- Who is eligible for a normal retirement
- May elect option 2 or option 3 and
- Designate a person to receive a pension
- If he/she dies before retiring

When am I eligible for a normal retirement?

You are eligible for a normal retirement:

- At age 60 for general employees
- At age 57 for Deputy Sheriffs
- Or if you qualify for the Rule of 75

What is Option 2 or Option 3?

- Option 2: Upon your death, your designated beneficiary will receive 50% of your normal pension
- Option 3: Upon your death, your beneficiary will receive 100% of your normal pension

Does a designated beneficiary have to be my spouse?

- Anyone may be designated as your beneficiary for option 2 or option 3
- Only one beneficiary may be named

How do I elect a Protective Survivorship Option?

- You can contact the Employees' Retirement System office and request a form to be mailed to you
- You can come to the Human Resource office Room 210 in the Courthouse and request a form

What should I do when I become eligible for a normal retirement?

- As soon as you become eligible for a normal retirement
- Contact the Employees' Retirement System office and request a Protective Survivorship form

What if I do not complete a Protective Survivorship form?

- If you are not married and do not elect a Protective Survivor Option and die before you retire, your beneficiary or estate will only receive a lump sum death benefit payment of $2,000.00
- If you are married and do not elect a Protective Survivor Option, and you die before retiring, your spouse will automatically receive option 3 (100% of the pension you would have received).
