Turkey Under Glass at the Domes Mitchell Park Domes A Day of Fun For The Whole Family

MILWAUKEE, WI – (February 6, 2012) – The Mitchell Park Domes, 524 S. Layton Boulevard, invites families and friends to experience, “Turkey Under Glass,” a festival highlighting the cultures and customs of Turkey, a southeastern European country on Saturday, February 11, 2012 from 9-4 pm. Spend the day learning about Turkish culture and at the same time take in the Fantasy Garden Train Show.

Discover Turkey while strolling through the picturesque landscape of the Mitchell Park Domes. There will be cultural exhibits available for viewing and Turkish themed items for sale at bazaar stands. Shoppers will be able to purchase items from Turkey; like necklaces (coin), Pashmina scarves, purses (telephone/passport sizes) and belly dance belts along with much more. There will be traditional dance performances by old and young alike along with workshops offered throughout the day. Make your taste buds dance with the flavor of authentic Turkish ethnic food, as well as Turkish coffee and lemonade. In addition to the exhibits, folk dance and belly-dancing instruction will be shared, and you can even learn how to say a few things in Turkish.

This event is staged and coordinated by the Turam Turkish Folk Dance Group, Denai’s Dancers, Pat Kellar’s Oriental Dancers, the Hamilton High School Horan Turkish Folk Dance Group, and oriental dancer, Denise Lukaski-Sedmak. For more information go to countyparks.com or call the Domes at (414) 257-5600.
