In the Celebration of Earth Day

Join Wehr Nature for the 42nd Earth Day Celebration

In Celebration of Earth Day is returning to Wehr Nature Center, Sunday, April 22, Noon – 4:00 p.m. The celebration this year will focus on sustainability as there will be many recycled crafts like paper making, turning cans into works of art and other “green friendly” activities to celebrate the return of spring. Visitors will be invited to adopt a tree and directions for planning to plant a mini garden, to take home. In addition, you will learn how to mix up an earth friendly cleaner.

There will be guest organizations and vendors on site with information on how to take care of our planet. Be sure to have a seat in the amphitheater at 1:00 for Kohl’s Wild Theater.

This is the 42nd anniversary of Earth Day and it has reached international status. People all over the globe will be participating by volunteering for a project, planting a tree/shrub, picking up litter in a park, or attending a special event at a nearby Nature Center. Join us. Let’s get everyone moving outside and taking action by doing something to help the environment.

Mark your calendar, Sunday, April 22 from noon to 4:00 pm. The place to be is Wehr Nature Center, 9701 W. College Ave. Franklin (414) 425-8550, www.countyparks.com

General admission is $2 per person, $1 per Friends of Wehr member payable at the door. Regular parking fee of $3 per car in effect. For more information go to countyparks.com or call the Wehr Nature Center at (414) 425-8550.
