Man Turns Himself in on Warrant While Still Carrying Cocaine in Wallet

Milwaukee, WI – David Williams, age 30, turned himself in to the County Correctional Facility – Central yesterday morning on an outstanding battery warrant. As he was turning over personal items during the booking process, 37 individually wrapped packets of cocaine fell out of his wallet. He admitted it was cocaine, and it tested positive for crack cocaine base.

He now faces additional charges for a Class F Felony charge of Possession of a Controlled Substance with Intent to Deliver. The street value of the cocaine was approximately $925.

If convicted, he faces 12 ½ years in prison, with 6 years as an enhancer for a subsequent offense. His criminal history shows arrests in 2001, 2002, and twice in 2005 for the same charge.
