Inmate Involved in Work Program Injures Hand in Dough Press Machine

Milwaukee, WI – A Milwaukee County inmate worker in the jail food service program was injured this morning at the County Correctional Facility-South in Franklin when his hand was caught in a dough rolling machine. He was conveyed to the hospital and treated for minor injuries to his hand and will be returned to the facility.

The inmate is serving a nine-month sentence after a parole violation, and is awaiting trial on another criminal charge. The local newspaper has inaccurately accused the Sheriff of having ended all inmate worker programs at the facility. This unfortunate incident proves otherwise.
