Sheriff Attributes Burglary/Robbery Increase in North Side Neighborhoods to Failed Soft-on-Crime Social Engineering Experiments by the Milwaukee County Criminal Justice System

Milwaukee, WI – Yesterday, a crime spree was reported by the Milwaukee Police Department that includes burglaries and robberies concentrated in the area between Sherman Park Boulevard and 60th Street neighborhoods on the north side of the city. This crime spree is evidence of the failed social engineering experiments being conducted by soft-on-crime advocates and those in the lenient Milwaukee County judiciary and prosecutors office.

Crimes like burglaries and robberies are recidivist crimes. Those arrested for burglary and robbery are being released without consequences or punishment through a folly of a program called Universal Screening. I call it Universal Jailbreak, as it returns career criminals to neighborhoods through low bail, and allows them to be entered into so-called diversion programs such as “alternatives to incarceration,” and an erroneously-named “second chance program.”

These naïve and discriminatory experiments lubricate the revolving door of the criminal justice system. They are costly as well, as police have to re-arrest and process recidivists through the criminal justice system over and over again, not to mention the social, emotional and economic costs of additional deaths, injuries and property loss.
