Sheriff Alerts Public on Emerging Criminal Activity Trend Known as the "Knockout Game"

Milwaukee, WI – The "Knockout Game" is an unprovoked physical attack in public places where the suspect, walking with a group, punches an unsuspecting pedestrian in the face or head to knock them out with one punch as they walk by. Often another member of the group records the attack.

As the video links in this email show, even women are among the victims. This brutal behavior has occurred across the country. Not alerting the public about this criminal behavior is not an effective crime prevention strategy. This information is being put out to alert people to help them avoid being on the receiving end of these violent attacks.
