COUNTY TREASURER RECEIVES RECOGNITION FOR MINORITY BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT

December 10, 2008

Milwaukee County Treasurer Dan Diliberti received a Community Business Development Partnership Award last week at the Community Business Development annual EXPO Luncheon.

Diliberti was cited for his efforts to promote increased business contracts with minority business partners in Milwaukee County

In receiving the award, Diliberti said that minority business development makes sense for Milwaukee County.

“It makes good sense,” Said Diliberti. “Money spent here, stays here. Contracts with minority businesses put money back into the community where it re-circulates and magnifies its economic impact. It helps support local entrepreneurs, increases local employment opportunities, creates spin-off business, helps develop neighborhood business districts, and boosts the local economy.”
