SNOW REMOVAL - DID YOU KNOW?

Okay, we don't want to think about it, right? Unless you're one of those people who like a snowy Wisconsin winter, this can be a frustrating time to get around. Here's some information to keep in mind.

Did you know that it is illegal to plow snow into an "accessible parking" stall? Wisconsin law calls for fine of up to $40.00 for the first offense and up to $100.00 for the second and subsequent offenses.

WI statute 346.503 Parking spaces for vehicles displaying special registration plates or special identification cards.

(2e) The owner or lessee subject to the requirements of sub. (1m) shall keep the parking spaces reserved for vehicles designated under sub. (1m) or (2m) clear of snow and ice in a timely manner and make other reasonable efforts to ensure that the spaces are available for use by a motor vehicle used by a physically disabled person.

346.56 Penalty for violating sections 346.503 to 346.55. (1g) Any person violating s.346.503 (2e) shall forfeit not less than $20.00 nor more than $40.00 for the first offense. For a 2nd or subsequent conviction within 3 years, person shall forfeit not less than $50.00 nor more than $100.00.

SOCIAL SECURITY UPDATE

@SocialSecurity

By Bob Trotter

Social Security Public Affairs Specialist in Milw

GET YOUR RETIREMENT SOARING

Wright Brothers Day, observed on December 17, marks the day in 1903 that two adventurous brothers in Kitty Hawk, North Carolina took to the air for the first time. It was a modern miracle at the time and a catalyst for the age of intercontinental travel. Over a hundred years later, it's commonplace for people to fly across the country. Most of us don't consider all the preparation and patience it took to achieve this modern feat of flight.

Luckily, planning your financial future isn't as daunting as pioneering modern aviation. Social Security has secure and easy-to-use online resources that can ensure your retirement soars above the clouds. The sooner you start planning for retirement, the better prepared you'll be. Just like building a reliable airplane, you'll need finely tuned parts that will work together for you to take flight.

Think of your retirement strategy as a flight plan that propels you higher. We have many resources at www.socialsecurity.gov/planners/retire that help you find the age at which you may first become entitled to unreduced retirement benefits, estimate your life expectancy, and calculate your estimated benefits. These tools explain how much money you will need and for how long — something you can adjust through personal savings, pensions, and other benefits.

You can also get personalized benefit estimates using the Retirement Estimator at www.socialsecurity.gov/estimator. The Estimator shows different scenarios, like how future wage changes or alternate retirement dates will affect your future benefits. Benefit amounts may differ from the estimates provided because:

- Your earnings may increase or decrease in the future.
- After you start receiving benefits, they may be adjusted for cost-of-living increases.
- Your estimated benefits are based on current law. The law governing benefit amounts may change because, by 2034, the payroll taxes collected under current law will be enough to pay only about 79 cents for each dollar of scheduled benefits.

- Your benefit amount may be affected by military service, railroad employment or pensions earned through work on which you did not pay Social Security tax.

As you can see, your flight plan to retirement may change over your lifetime. It's important you understand that no matter where life takes you, the long journey to retirement is one of your most important trips. With every right decision, you're making your retirement flight plan a success that will carry you through the heights of your golden years.

It's never too early to start planning. Whether you are nearly ready to retire or if you're just getting off the ground in your career, I recommend you create your own my Social Security account so you can also learn about all the future benefits available to you. Visit www.socialsecurity.gov/myaccount to create your account.

FAITH, HOPE, AND LOVE: SOURCES OF POSITIVE ENERGY FOR CAREGIVERS

Marianne Muscott,* OSF, MA, MS, LPC
Instrument of Peace Ministry, St Ann's Center for Intergenerational Care

Choosing to believe that our caregiving can be colored by our attitude is a gift we give ourselves. Faith to believe that we are called to share God's love and compassion is to say "yes" to a Higher Power's invitation to bring a healing Presence to those we serve. This partnership with God is a choice. To practice faith in this way reminds us that we are not alone. Often our prayer may simply be a time of saying, "I believe, help my unbelief!"

Hope is a choice that often we need to practice because of so many times and situations that seem hopeless. Often we are tempted to despair especially when we are exhausted and see no help in sight. Again we have a choice to accept our poverty and to humbly realize that hope means we are willing to admit that we have done the best we could. Hope often is an invitation to tell ourselves that we have done the best we could.

Love is the greatest of all. We are invited to care and to love ourselves so that we can share our many gifts with those whom God has sent us to. Healthy loving means that we take the needed time and make the needed space to grow the seeds of the many gifts that God has given us.

The Bible tells us: "For now we see in a mirror dimly, but then face to face, now I know in part, but then I will know fully just as I have been fully known. But now faith, hope and love but the greatest of these is love." (1 Corinthians 13:13)

In conclusion, it helps to remember that this holy season is a time to focus on God's many gifts to us. We are living at a time when science, religion and psychology are coming together to help us realize that we have a choice to bring light into life's darkest moments. Positive energy is a gift that we choose to welcome. We don't deny the negative that we experience and feel, but we don't let those dark experiences dominate. To consciously focus on goodness is to reframe negativity. Perhaps together we can sing Leonard Cohen's song, "Anthem:"

"Ring the bells that can still ring
Forget your perfect offering
There is a crack in everything
That's how the light gets in."

Please note: The majority of caregivers say that they get through their days because of their faith, which is also a foundation for their hope and their love in caregiving. Marianne Muscott, OSF, by popular request, has presented numerous times at the annual Caring for the Caregiver Conference. Above is a synopsis of her workshop at this year's October 2015, 9th Annual Conference, "Cracking the Caregiver Stress Code."*
