MILWAUKEE COUNTY VISION STATEMENT

Overview

Racism has been and is a public health crisis in Milwaukee County. According to the County Health Rankings, Milwaukee County is, and has consistently been, one of the lowest-ranked counties for health in Wisconsin and, according to Federal Reserve Economic Data, Milwaukee County is one of our nation's most racially segregated areas.

According to 2019 statistics, a white person lives, on average, nearly 14 years longer than a black person and the infant mortality rate is nearly three (3) times higher for black infants compared to white infants. Race is a social construction with no biologic basis, yet racism may produce an assigned societal value based on the way a person looks that has resulted in race being a consistent predictor of a person's quality and length of life.

The Racial Equity Budget Tool (REBT) is a structured racial equity lens for departments to use to critically assess the impacts of budget decisions on communities of color. The tool is structured around Milwaukee County's strategic focus areas to help departments and decision makers better understand the pain points and opportunities to advancing the County's vision.

Milwaukee County's Racial Equity Budget Tool (REBT) is designed to:

Make intentional connections between the strategic plan and the budget.

Use racial equity as the key guiding principle for important decisions regarding investments or disinvestments.

Initiate conversations on topics related to the three-year strategic objectives among department leaders and employees.

Provide baseline data on departmental efforts to inform enterprise-wide decisions.

Milwaukee County Strategic Focus Areas

In 2019, Milwaukee County launched its first strategic plan in 20 years. This plan explicitly recognizes that racism is a public health crisis and leads with the vision that: By achieving racial equity, Milwaukee is the healthiest county in Wisconsin.

As part of the strategic plan, Milwaukee County leaders have committed to use a racial equity budget tool to ensure resource allocations advance the strategic focus areas and vision. The questions in this budget tool were guided by the strategic plan and were informed by best practices from other jurisdictions and the Government Alliance on Race and Equity (GARE).

1. Create Intentional Inclusion

- Reflect the full diversity of Milwaukee County at every level of County government.
- Create and nurture an inclusive culture across the Milwaukee County government.
- Increase the number of Milwaukee County contracts awarded to minority- and women-owned business.

2. Bridge the Gap

- Determine what, where, and how we deliver services based on the resolution of health disparities.
- Break down silos across Milwaukee County government to maximize access to and quality of services offered.
- Apply a racial equity lens to all decisions.

3. Invest in Equity

- Invest “upstream” to address root causes of health disparities.
- Enhance Milwaukee County’s fiscal health and sustainability.
- Dismantle barriers to diverse and inclusive communities.

Instructions

1. Submit only one REBT per department.

The REBT should reflect an analysis of the suite of budget decisions per department. Within answers to each question, details may be provided at the division level, as determined appropriate. Decision points should be analyzed as part of the comprehensive effort that your department is undertaking in addressing racial equity in programs, plans, policies, and power structures. Since departments are often tasked with cutting their budgets to reflect a reduction from their previous fiscal year's budget, a REBT should also include an analysis of how proposed reductions may or may not burden Black and Brown individuals and communities.

2. Keep the focus on the analysis of departments' improvements, reductions, and overall budget.

The REBT will focus on a racial equity analysis of decisions for new policies, programs, and plans under consideration, and the department's ongoing commitment to racial equity.

3. Use demographic data to help your department determine benefits and burdens of new decisions and overall budget.

State and federally collected demographic data resources are provided in Appendix C. Departments are encouraged to use any data they collect on their service users throughout the completion of the REBT. Data from other relevant and credible sources a department may have is also acceptable.

4. REBT technical assistance information and opportunities.

REBT training and technical assistance opportunities will be available at dates to be determined and communicated later. All persons who may be expected to assist the department director in completing the REBT will be encouraged to participate. The learning opportunities (post COVID-19 pandemic) will take place on a Milwaukee County web-based platform (Microsoft Teams).

- If you understand the question, but have difficulty determining how to answer a question, please contact your Budget Analyst for assistance.
- The Office of Equity should only be contacted on questions related to the racial equity components (glossary, concepts, etc..) that are unclear and cannot be addressed by your Budget Analyst. Send correspondence via email to equityoffice@milwaukeecountywi.gov.

RACIAL EQUITY BUDGET TOOL

Department: Strategy, Budget and Performance

Please note: each response field below has a 2,500-character limit.

STRATEGIC FOCUS AREA 1: CREATE INTENTIONAL INCLUSION

1. What activities are you doing to attract and retain a diverse and inclusive workforce in your department? What are the associated costs of these activities?

The Office of Strategy, Budget & Performance (SBP) works to attract and retain new and diverse talent to broaden the skills and perspectives represented on the team. The office works to retain an inclusive workforce by maintaining open communication and flexibility to meet operational and employee needs. Intentional time is dedicated for manager and employee one-on-one check-in meetings as well as all-office monthly meetings which highlight team accomplishments, anniversaries, important messages, etc. The intent of these meetings is to maintain high levels of staff morale and continuity of services across service areas. The Project Management Office (PMO) and Budget Office also meets weekly with staff on collaborative efforts. The office has adopted a hybrid in-person and virtual work model that supports the retention of staff and acknowledges the needs and preferences of the office workforce. In addition, the office worked with Human Resources to facilitate DISC assessments with the entire team. An interactive follow-up session highlighted the importance and value of having a team of individuals with different work styles. These team bonding activities not only allow the office to create a community-like environment, but it helps staff get to know their peers and their preferences and styles for communication. There is no cost to implementing these activities. Overall, the division values a diversity of perspectives which can come from recruiting and retaining a diverse workforce.

Additional actions to attract a diverse workforce have included: advertising open positions on multiple and diverse job site outlets, expanded outreach to external networks to increase the amount of job applicants, and conducting additional recruitments if the initial recruitment includes a limited amount of applicants and lack of diverse candidates. In 2023, the office is prioritized supporting the personal and profession development of staff.

The majority of the SBP budget provides funding for salary costs. Limited operational funds have been utilized for job advertising. However there is no specifically dedicated allocation in the SBP budget.

2. How do you use professional development and advancement opportunities to promote equity in your department's workforce? What resources are used to support these opportunities for professional development and advancement?

The SBP Office values professional development opportunities to advance the skills of employees. Professional association memberships have been offered and funded through the office to recognize and foster ongoing professional growth. Understanding that staff in the PMO have varying levels of experience in project management and process improvement, the office is offering and funding a certification series to ensure staff have the tools and skills necessary for their success. In 2022, ten PMO staff participated in a Six Sigma Yellow Belt course. The cost per participant is $500 and each participant will dedicate approximately 20 to 30 hours over several months to complete the course. Department tax-levy resources are used to support these opportunities. The PMO has also operationalized a request form for staff seeking additional learning opportunities. The department continues to seek additional training opportunities in 2023, which will continue into 2024 as staff pursue Project Management Professional status and other certifications.

3. Our employees can be a great resource for innovation and knowing what is working well and what needs work. Have you engaged a diverse group of frontline employees to inform decisions about your proposed budget changes? If yes, how was input solicited, who was involved, and what were the results?

The SBP Office holds monthly meetings with all employees to discuss projects and cross-cutting opportunities and challenges across the department and County as a whole. The meetings provide an opportunity for open discussion among all team members about how to continue improving the department and County operations, and the discussions result in all team members across the department learning more about how to continue advancing our department's strategic plan.

The SBP Office was developed as a new department in 2022. The 2023 and 2024 budgets are largely a cost-to-continue budget that does not include major changes. A budget shift that occurred included dedicating resources to a PMO-led project to reinvigorate the County's Youth Commission. The Project Manager facilitation this initiative proposed a $50,000 operational budget to the office director. This resulted in allocation of continuation funds to implement the program in 2024.

4. Are you tracking contracts with minority and women-owned business? If yes, please share percentages of each. If no, why not?

The majority of the SBP Office budget consists of salary and personnel costs with limited contracts funded within the department. The main active contract within SBP at this time is for the Youth Commission managing partner, Urban Underground, which is a woman and minority owned business.

As the PMO continues to project manage funds received through the American Rescue Plan Act, the office will continue to promote and enforce requirements to contract with minority and women-owned businesses. Even with a limited amount of contracting, SBP will provide tracking of minority contracting and seek to support the County's efforts on equitable contracting.

In addition, the SBP Office is committed to achieving if not exceeding the TBE/DBE targets for the Future State RFP project.

Countywide, SBP is supporting facilitation of the Equitable Contracting strategy team and has staff participation on this team. In addition, a continuous improvement project including DAS and multiple departments is facilitated by SBP to look at the contracting process. Specifically, the scope of the project is to look at the process from the point of when a department wants to start a contract to when it is signed and stored. Improvements in the process are being organized into a new procedure in the Administrative Manual of Procedures (AMOPs). Special attention is given to ensuring the improvements put in place also improve equity in our contracting process. As a follow-on project, the PMO initiated a continuous improvement project with the Office of Economic Inclusion to improve the data collection process for recording DBE and TBE participation on County contracts. Improvements can be expected in 2024.

STRATEGIC FOCUS AREA 2: BRIDGE THE GAP

5. How and when have service users, in diverse and inclusive communities, and other key stakeholders been engaged to inform decisions about changes in funding levels for services provided in your requested budget (who was involved, what was the forum, what were the results)?

The primary stakeholders of the SBP Office are County departments. The SBP budget includes staff to support County departments in areas including strategic planning, budgeting, grant development, project management, continuous improvement, and internal communications. In the PMO, feedback and requests for support are provided by County departments. These stakeholders are informing decisions about how and where staff time and resources are deployed. An internal customer satisfaction survey also drives continuous improvement within the PMO and is disseminated following completion of projects. The PMO also facilitates the ARPA allocation process which involved community engagement on project ideas and priority ranking. This is an intensive process that also includes transparency of results through a public dashboard.

During the 2024 budget process and in past years, the budget office has provided extensive training to stakeholder departments. For the 2024 budget has included weekly open office hours sessions to provide training to departments on the budget, as well as specific training related to the County's new budget software system. In additional, additional budget meetings have been held with individual departments and their budget analysts.

6. Describe ways in which racial and economic data were used to prioritize resource distribution. (Data can include sources found in the resources section of this tool, department collected data, or any other relevant data from other sources.)

SBP Office resources are minimal and were distributed to fund key positions to maintain internal services in strategic planning, budgeting, grant development, project management, continuous improvement, and internal communications. That said, the Strategy & Performance Service Area encourages and supports departments to use these data when developing and implementing their strategic plans.

7. How does your budget reflect efforts to work across departments to break down silos to maximize access to and quality of services offered? How does this help us achieve the vision of achieving equity and health?

The SBP Office budget is designed to provide sufficient resources and staff time to work with colleague departments and collaborate in strategic planning, budgeting, grant development, project management, continuous improvement, and internal communications. Projects led by the PMO involve cross-departmental project teams that address county-wide challenges. Solutions are developed and implemented by those teams and are a great example of efforts that break down silos around departments. The PMO is designed to centralize functions that create and support standard operations and effective practices that reduce silo-ing. Multi-department grant development teams are especially effective at working together to secure external resources that improve access and quality of resources, helping the County achieve racial and health equity.

8. What are the expected benefits and potential unintended consequences to disadvantaged communities of your proposed budget changes?

a. What analysis did you do to determine the expected benefits and potential unintended consequences?

There are no major changes to the 2024 SBP budget. The majority of the budget provides funding for staffing costs, and the same amount of positions are funded in 2024 as in 2023.

b. What will your department do to mitigate unintended consequences resulting from your proposed budget changes?

N/A

STRATEGIC FOCUS AREA 3: INVEST IN EQUITY

9. If your department were to receive some additional funding for addressing racial equity, what specific strategic plan priority would you address, what would be the project/activity and intended outcome, and how much would it cost?

#1: Grants & Project Analyst.

The Grant & Project Analyst would provide direct grant development support to Milwaukee County departments to increase grant revenue that supports achievement of the departments' strategic goals. The position is responsible for conducting grant searches, leading department-level proposals, researching and writing, and organizing grant development teams. A portion of the Analysts' time will be spent supporting projects undertaken by the Project Management Office in the areas of continuous improvement, strategy, and priority projects.

As an enabling function of Milwaukee County, the SBP Project Management Office provides direct support to customer-facing departments that are working to meet the needs of residents, specifically serving Black, indigenous, and people of color. Grant development and project management resources are valuable levers to helping Milwaukee County departments achieve their racial and health equity goals. The Grant & Project Analyst will dedicate time to researching grants and developing proposals with departments that address racial equity related service gaps. Additionally, this individual will help advance countywide initiative in alignment with our strategic vision by supporting SBP project managers on assignments.

Lastly, this position creates a talent pipeline within the SBP Project Management Office that will allow the County to recruit new talent, creating equitable opportunities for individuals with varying backgrounds and experiences. There are phases of professional development embedded in this role and opportunities to build a comprehensive resume due to the variety of projects undertaken by the office. The cost would be approximately $75,994 for a Grant & Project Analyst. The intended outcome goal would be to secure over $10M in new grant revenue.

10. What is your department doing to dismantle barriers to diverse and inclusive communities, including meeting multilingual needs and other communication or accessibility barriers?

The Budget service area has supported efforts to create an equitable budget process. This includes implementation and continued incorporation of the Racial Equity Budget Tool (REBT) into the annual budget process, which is aimed to make intentional connections between the strategic plan and the budget. In addition, the capital budget scoring criteria has been revised to include racial equity scoring as a factor pertaining to project funding ranking and consideration.

The PMO works with all County departments to support their funding needs related to dismantling barriers to diverse and inclusive communities. This primarily takes place through implementation to grant development, strategy and priority projects, in which the PMO concluded 54 projects to-date in 2023. Projects vary in size and depth, but are each designed to meet the needs of customer departments.

The Strategy Director serves as one of the leaders for the Diverse & Inclusive Communities Strategy Team, which consists of County, municipal, and community leaders working to advance strategic objective 3C to dismantle barriers to diverse and inclusive communities.

APPENDIX A

GLOSSARY

Communities of color: In the context of the Milwaukee County Racial Equity Budget Tool, the term communities of color is interchangeable with Black and Brown communities and inclusive of all non-white populations of color.

Disadvantaged communities: A collective term for referencing communities that have historically experienced inequities where they learn, live, and work that were/are not optimal due to disenfranchisement, disinvestment, marginalization, racism, and other systems of oppression.

Diversity: Diversity includes all the ways in which people differ, and it encompasses all the different characteristics that make one individual or group different from another. It is all-inclusive and recognizes everyone and every group as part of the diversity that should be valued. A broad definition includes not only race, ethnicity, and gender — the groups that most often come to mind when the term “diversity” is used — but also age, national origin, religion, disability, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, education, marital status, language, and physical appearance. It also involves different ideas, perspectives, and values.

Diverse group: As it relates to question 5, an intentional effort to include individuals from different racial, ethnic, gender, and social backgrounds proportionate to the diversity of the department.

Economic data: Numerical data collected based on service delivery criteria determined by departments.

Equity: The just, fair, and impartial treatment, acceptance, or behavior of people without favoritism or discrimination. Equity means righting wrongs, doing what’s right, and giving people what they need to thrive, which is different from equality, which means everyone gets the same thing regardless of circumstance or need.

Frontline employees: A grouping of Milwaukee County employees that serves as the initial point of contact for service users or a range of employees from all levels of the workforce with emphasis on the inclusion of direct service rendering staff.

Inclusion: Assurance that the culture, values, and opinions of individuals and groups are represented in the decision-making processes.

Inclusive workforce: A workplace environment that recognizes the contributions of all employees, while valuing their social status, race, gender, or other demographic classifications.

Key stakeholders: Both internal and external individuals, agencies, or organizations who participate in the planning, development, implementation and decision-making process of an activity, process, or service delivery. (AMOP: Key stakeholders are service users, the workforce, partners, governing boards, donors, suppliers, taxpayers, regulatory bodies, policy makers, funders, and local and professional communities.)

Multilingual needs: The ability of Milwaukee County departments to address linguistic needs for all service users through staffing, documentation, and other communication platforms.

Professional advancement: Opportunities for staff to build their capacity and ascend or pursue lateral movement to further advance their career trajectory.

Racial data: Demographic data collected by Milwaukee County departments that identifies the race/ethnicity of service recipients.

Racial equity: The just and fair inclusion of all people in society, regardless of their race/ethnicity, with unfettered ability to participate, prosper, and reach their full potential. Racial equity is achieved when race no longer determines one’s health and socioeconomic outcomes and when everyone has what they need to thrive and decide what’s best for themselves, their families, and their communities, no matter where they live.

Service user: Current or potential user of Milwaukee County services.

Unintended consequences: Outcomes of a purposeful action that are not intended or foreseen.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

PURPOSE

1) What is the purpose of using this tool?

The Racial Equity Budget Tool (REBT) has many intended purposes:

- It is about making an intentional connection between the strategic plan and our budget. We cannot sufficiently change our institution if we do not think critically about how and what we are spending money on.
- Whether we are making investments or disinvestments, we must do so with racial equity as the key guiding principle to those important decisions.
- It is meant to spur conversation on topics related to the strategic focus areas among department leaders and employees so we are all challenging ourselves to think critically about our efforts to advance the vision.
- This tool is an opportunity to baseline departmental efforts to make informed enterprise-wide decisions.

These are only some of the many answers to why we are using a tool to assess budget decisions.

2) What other jurisdictions have used a racial equity budget tool? Where did the budget tool questions come from?

Milwaukee County's REBT builds on the success of other jurisdictions in implementing a budget tool. Jurisdictions Milwaukee County looked to for guidance include the City of Seattle, the City of Portland (Ore.), King County (Wash.), and the City of San Antonio. Resources from the Government Alliance on Race and Equity (GARE) were also used. The questions are largely framed around Milwaukee County's strategic plan.

3) How does this tool work when departments must make budget cuts year over year? What is the point of doing this when departments don't have a lot of latitude about what disinvestments to make?

Milwaukee County's structural deficit and budget challenges are no secret. However, Milwaukee County still has an annual budget of over $1 billion. Whether the County is making disinvestments or investments, those decisions must be made with racial equity at the forefront of decision-makers' minds. Departments should think critically about their current assumptions and spending versus shifting investments to address root-causes of inequities.

COMPLETING THE TOOL

4) Are there right answers to the questions?

Responses to this tool will inform our future action to see where Milwaukee County can improve on the path to health and racial equity. There are no right answers to the questions, and each department is starting in a different place, serves different people with different needs, and faces a different set of barriers and opportunities. While there are no right answers, the information provided in the tool will be used for decision making throughout the budget process and will be available to the public. Therefore, answers should be robust, defensible, and easy to understand. Your department's answer may look very different than another department's answer and that is okay as long as the answers address the question.

5) What if there are inequities to other groups other than racial groups? Should we be talking about those inequities in our analysis?

Yes! Milwaukee County is race forward, but not race exclusive. If there are other inequities identified in your analysis, please include them.

6) Does every department complete one tool, or is it one tool for each division?

Please submit one tool per department. Responses can be broken down at the division level within your department's tool, as appropriate. All questions should be completed.

7) Who is responsible for filling out the budget tool?

The department head is ultimately responsible for the content in the REBT. It is up to department leadership to determine who in their department is most appropriate to be involved in completing questions in the tool, which will differ from department to department. Likely people to include are department leaders, fiscal staff, administrative staff, and Racial Equity Ambassadors.

APPENDIX B

GO TO QUESTIONS \(REBT FORM\)

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

8) Is this tool supposed to imply that we should be taking actions on each of these items? Are the questions meant to be directives to departments?

A budget is a reflection of priorities. Ultimately, Milwaukee County’s budget should reflect our values and advance our vision and strategic plan. However, we acknowledge our organization is on a journey to continuously improve our efforts toward health and racial equity. The REBT is meant to spur conversations among department leaders and staff about what they are and are not able to do in a given budget year to advance the vision. To that end, the tool is not an absolute directive to departments. We fully expect that some departments’ answers to some of the questions will be that they are not doing anything this year with an explanation about why that is the case. Looking ahead to future years, departments will be expected to show how their budgets help Milwaukee County make progress toward its vision.

9) How do I use this when my work is statutorily required?

What services Milwaukee County provides is often statutorily required. However, how we do our work usually is not a directive. This tool is meant to challenge us all to think about how to do the enormous part of our work that is within our discretion and control.

10) Is there a standard approach all departments are expected to take to answer the questions?

No. Answer the questions based on the approach your department currently takes on these items.

11) What type of analysis is expected for each of the questions?

It depends on what your department is currently doing in each area. Please use the diverse expertise and experiences of staff in your department to determine the most appropriate way for your department to answer the questions.

12) What part of the budget is this tool being applied to?

The REBT will focus on an equity analysis of decisions for new policies, programs, and plans under consideration, and the department’s ongoing commitment to equity. Your department is asked to identify what considerations are considered in the overall budget to maximize equitable outcomes.

USING THE DATA

13) Who will receive the data departments provide in the REBT? Who will be expected to answer questions about the information provided?

Responses to the REBT will be publicly available and will be presented to the County Board. If any decision-makers (e.g., County Executive, County Board Supervisors, department directors) have questions about the information provided in the REBT, the department should be prepared to answer them. We are all partners in Milwaukee County’s strategic planning effort to achieve racial equity, and the budget tool is in-part meant to inform and focus conversations around strategic priorities, understanding that not all questions have known answers or solutions.

14) What if someone questions the analysis, conclusions, or recommendations made in the budget tool?

Like all research and analysis, there will be questions and critiques and we should embrace these important conversations. The work presented in the budget tool should be defensible, but most of these questions do not have a clear right or wrong answer. If someone finds something wrong in the analysis, then we need to fix it. However, if it is a question about the interpretation and meaning of the analysis, then we can make space for different perspectives to find the best path forward with the information we have available.

14) Will the budget tool submissions be scored?

No, the REBT submissions will not be scored. However, they will be made available to the public and reviewed by the County Executive’s office, the Office of Equity, the Office of Performance, Strategy and Budget and the County Board.

LOGISTICS

16) When will the budget tool be due?

The REBT is due on July 15 — the same due date as the requested budget.

17) Where do I go if I have questions?

If you understand the question, but have difficulty determining how to answer a question, please first try to problem solve within your department by looping in additional experts (e.g., Racial Equity Ambassadors, people leaders, frontline staff).

If you need assistance understanding what the question is asking, contact your Budget Analyst for assistance.

The Office of Equity should only be contacted on questions related to racial equity components (glossary, concepts, etc.) that are unclear and cannot be addressed by your budget analyst. Send correspondence via email to equityoffice@milwaukeecountywi.gov.
