Supervisor Sequanna Taylor to Host "Night Out at McGovern Park"

MILWAUKEE – Milwaukee County Supervisor Sequanna Taylor will join other elected officials and community leaders to host a "Night Out at McGovern Park" community engagement event on Tuesday, June 13.

The "Night Out" event is an opportunity for neighbors to socialize, learn more about community organizations that provide services, and interact directly with the elected officials that represent surrounding area surrounding McGovern Park.

Pastor Melva Henderson from World Outreach and Bible Training Center will bless the event.

Sam Coleman, Chief of Staff to Milwaukee Common Council President Ashanti Hamilton, will be a featured speaker.

Representative Jason Fields will send a member of his staff.

Neighbors who attend the Night Out at McGovern Park will enjoy a performance by the Milwaukee Flyers and have the option to take advantage of family friendly activities, free food, and browse among several resource tables.

Hunger Task Force will be on hand to provide information about Milwaukee's lead water pipe challenges and will provide clean drinking water for everyone.

Neighbors will also have an opportunity to interact with Milwaukee firefighters who will bring a fire engine for both children and adults to explore up close.

State Senator Lena Taylor, the Milwaukee County Parks Department and the McGovern Park Neighborhood Association are also sponsors of the event.
