Supervisor Taylor to Host Re-Entry Unblemished Event at Clinton Rose Senior Center

MILWAUKEE – Tonight, Supervisor Sequanna Taylor, in partnership with Judge Milton Childs, Vaun Mayes, Elijah Tucker, Ed Hennings and Latoya Greer will hold another event in the “Re-Entry Unblemished” series to offer advice and opportunities to individuals involved in the justice system. Supervisor Taylor issued the following statement:

“It is essential that our community supports formerly incarcerated individuals before, during, and after their reintegration period. By informing these individuals of the resources and support available to them, we are helping them successfully reintegrate into their communities and therefore reducing recidivism rates.” said Supervisor Taylor. “When these individuals succeed, our whole community succeeds. I encourage all interested parties to attend and join this important discussion.”

The event will feature a discussion from a panel of those involved with the justice system, with time for a question-and-answer portion with those in the audience.

The event will take place tonight, Wednesday, September 27 from 5:00-7:00 pm at the Clinton Rose Senior Center. All formerly incarcerated individuals and their families are welcome to attend.
